Province in the Emerald Isle is to be represented at the picnic.

Joint Outing Will Bring Grand Gathering of Irish Together.

Able Ladies and Gentlemen at Head of Each of the Committees.

COUNTRY STORE A FEATURE

If you see the smiling face of Attorney Patrick T. Sullivan these days and hear him humming to himself, you may know he is felicitating himself on the prospects for the success of the joint picnic to be given under the auspices of Division 3, of which he is President, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. This is what he hums:

"Bless the good fortune that brings us together,
Big men and little men, short men
Some from the seaside and some from the heather,
Townsmen and countrymen—Irishmen all.
Ulstermen, Munstermen, Connachtmen, Leinstermen,
Faithful to Erin, we answer her call;
Ulstermen, Munstermen, Connachtmen, Leinstermen,
True-hearted Irishmen, Irishmen all.

Warm is our love for the island that bore us,
Cool it will never whatever befall;
Ready are we as our fathers before us
To strive for her glory—we're Irishmen all.
Genial and gallant men—fearless and valiant men,
Faithful to Erin, we answer her call;
Genial and gallant men, fearless and valiant men,
True-hearted Irishmen—Irishmen all."

Pat Sullivan's heart is set on the success of that picnic, but there are others just as much interested, and the spirit of his song is breathed by all the members of the two organizations that have planned the picnic. The Executive Committee is made up of Mrs. Rosa Ansack, Mrs. Dan J. Dougherty, Miss Mary Corcoran and Messrs. Tom Stevens and D. J. Coleman. For a month past the Executive Committee has met at least once a week, and as more frequently as was deemed necessary.

Next Tuesday is the day and Phoenix Hill Park is the place. Prof. Dennis Collins' orchestra of eight pieces will furnish the music and plenty of it. Miss Fannie Kennedy is chairman of the committee in charge of the euchar. Miss Nellie Downey will preside over the refreshment booth, and the country store, which will be something novel at a local Irish picnic, will have Miss Elizabeth King as its presiding genius. Dancing and music have been left to the tender mercy of Miss Rose Sweeney, and Martin Sheehan is to superintend the athletic games. Tom Dolan, of Division 1, will assist in supervising the tug of war and athletic diversions, and William J. Connelly and William P. McDonough are to be the chief spellbinders at the country store.

State President George J. Butler, County President P. J. Welsh and all of the other State and County officers will be in attendance. The dancing floor will be in charge of Attorney Edward Mackey, Dominic O'Donnell, James Stevens, William J. Leonard, John Karman, John Riley, Tom Stevens, Martin Sheehan and John Hession.

IRISH SERVICES

Conducted in Historic and Ancient Church of Cologne.

The Catholics of Ireland were duly represented at the recent Eucharistic Congress in the great city of Cologne, Germany. More than that a special Irish service was held and an Irish sermon preached in the historic church of St. Martin. That venerable abbey was founded by Talamhaich, an Irish monk, in 630 A. D.

In 975 A. D. when it became a Benedictine foundation, the first Abbot of its new rule was another son of Erin, Mimbobinnus. At least one Irish saint figures in church history as one of its inmates. He was St. Hellas, a native of the County Monaghan. Many Irish pilgrims passed through the abbey, and one Irish King, Brian of Leinster, died there in 1052.

It was St. Hellas who introduced the Roman Rite into Germany, and Berno, of Reichenau, who wrote the earliest manuscripts on the laws of symphony and tone, dedicated this most important work to the Irish saints.

AN AMERICAN VIEW.

How Writer in Virginia Paper Sizes Up Ireland.

Thinking people should give some special thought to Ireland, in many respects the most remarkable country on earth, say the Leader of Richmond, Va. Nowhere in history is there record of a territory so small and a people so few giving the world so much. No other nation has its highest so widely diffused among the strong peoples of the earth, adding strength, energy and dash to the best of them. No other people has sent its blood to be shed on so many battlefields and in so many causes and so invariably far to the front.

It is due to the familiar but pathetic humors of history that the Irish have done more for almost every land on the globe than for Ireland; and there is much truth in that famous and somewhat flattering sneer that the Irish rule all countries but Ireland.

They have contributed to every department of human endeavor. In this republic Irish names and Irish stock are everywhere active in the doing of things, from the digging of ditches to the leadership of armies and the creation and conduct of great enterprises. The majority of the citizens of these United States have more or less Irish blood in their veins and consequently sympathy with and affection for Ireland.

Aside from that, all the people must recognize the debt they owe to Irishmen for their brilliant contributions to poetry, literature, art, science and commercial and industrial triumphs.

When we recall that the island is about three-fourths the size of the State of Virginia and at its most populous period never had more than eight millions people, we must be astonished at the influence it has had in the world and at its rich contributions to the roll of heroes and the greatness of mankind.

HEALTHY SIGN

When Members Make Good Suggestions For Campaign.

Division 1, A. O. H., held an excellent meeting Tuesday night and every minute of the session was full of interest. President Thomas Keenan opened the meeting with prayer. William Kilkelly, who has been seriously ill, was reported improving. A communication was received from Mrs. John Shaughnessy returning thanks to members of the division for their kindness to her late husband during illness, and for the check sent her at his death. The communication was received and filed.

Thomas Dolan, Martin Cusick, James Barry, Thomas Walsh and James Kilkelly made interesting talks on the spirit of Irish nationalism and each offered valuable suggestions for a fall campaign to increase the membership of Division 1. An invitation to attend the annual outing of the Catholic Knights of America was accepted. Joseph E. Farrell read a chapter of Irish history before the meeting closed.

ENJOYING GOOD HEALTH.

Rev. Brother Richard, of St. Xavier's College, Louisville, and Rev. Brother Norbert, of St. Joseph's College, Baltimore, who are spending the summer in Europe, recently surprised the venerable and Very Rev. Father Bax and his niece, Miss Dymphna Veeneman, who are sojourning at Tillburg, Heliant, Holland. Brother Norbert formerly taught at St. John's school in this city and both Xaverians are well known to Father Bax. They were the first Kentuckians Father Bax and Miss Dymphna had seen since they left Louisville last fall. Both are enjoying good health and made many inquiries about old friends in Louisville.

HUSTLERS

Will Try to Land Letter Carriers' Convention For Louisville.

Commercial Club Will Send Representatives to Boost.

Mail Men Will Gather From Every State in Union.

GREAT THINGS FOR THE CITY

Louisville letter carriers are much encouraged by the spirit shown by the Louisville Commercial Club and merchants in aiding them to lay plans to capture the national convention of carriers in 1911. It means that if the local delegates are successful in landing the convention more than 1,000 mail carriers from every State in the Union and from every large city will come to Louisville two years hence, and the majority of the delegates usually take their wives to these gatherings. Postmaster Robert E. Woods and Col. Jacob Hauger will accompany the delegates to help them secure the next convention.

The approaching meeting of the national body will assemble in St. Paul, Minn., from Monday, August 30, to Saturday, September 4. The delegates from Falls City Branch No. 14 are Louis W. Borntraeger, Carl Settelmayr, Edward B. Robuck, Joseph Ascherman, Daniel W. Cuniff, Charles W. Huber and John S. Emmons. Each and everyone of them are good mixers, good talkers and hard workers. They expect to stay up late and early until they have secured the national gathering for 1911. They will rest after they return to Louisville.

Many of the leading merchants have donated merchandise or its equivalent to the local delegation, and if the convention goes elsewhere it will not be the fault of the Louisville carriers.

It will be a merry party that will leave Louisville for St. Paul next Saturday morning. It will include Messrs. and Mesdames Edward B. Robuck, D. W. Cuniff, C. W. Huber and Louis W. Borntraeger, wife and family. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Emmons and daughters went to St. Paul Monday night. Mr. Emmons is a member of the Committee on Laws, one of the most important committees in the organization, and has gone ahead to help formulate the report to be made to the convention.

Postmaster Robert E. Woods, Col. Jacob H. Inager, J. W. Brown, A. Engelhard, Jr., Eugene Gordon, J. W. Warner, J. B. Judah and Len H. Herndon, representing the Louisville Commercial Club, will follow several days after the carrier delegates and will aid in booming Louisville.

Letter carriers are a high type of Uncle Sam's employees. They are polite, careful, intelligent and hardworking. If the national convention comes to Louisville in 1911 the visitors will be given a taste of real Kentucky hospitality, and can go back to their respective homes, whether in Maine or Oregon, St. Paul or New Orleans, and advertise what manner of town Louisville is and what her merchants and manufacturers have to sell.

Letter carriers meet and talk to many people in their daily rounds and every carrier delegate well treated here will go back home a walking advertisement for Louisville.

VANDALS ROB CHURCH.

According to advices received from Vienna thousands of dollars' worth of silver and gold sacramental cups and crucifixes, many of them fine examples of medieval work and some jeweled, have been stolen from the ancient Cathedral of Capo d'istria, which is famous for the rich contents of its treasury. During the night the robbers, who are supposed to have concealed themselves in the church during the day and allowed themselves to be locked in, broke into the sacristy and forced an old iron chest which contained the valuables. They also took from the tabernacle above the chief altar the monstrance or crucifix, a fine piece of jeweled work of the fifteenth century, which is alone worth $10,000. They then opened one of the church doors and escaped without leaving any clue.

RECOGNIZED WORTH

President Mahan Pays High Tribute to Mackin Council.

Supreme President Mahan, of the Y. M. I. has appointed James T. Shelley, of this city, to represent the Young Men's Institute at the annual convention of the National Catholic Young Men's Union, which will meet in Boston next month. It is the highest honor that could come to a member of the order and the appointment is a deserved recognition of merit.

Mr. Shelley was the first President of Mackin Council, which in its sixteen years of existence has not only become flourishing, but is the most successful of any council of the order. It owns its own home and is continually improving it and adding to its equipment. Mr. Shelley has always maintained an active interest in the work of Mackin Council and is thoroughly in touch with Y. M. I. affairs.

It has been the desire of both the Y. M. I. and N. C. Y. M. U. for several years to unite the two organizations into one grand coast to coast organization. Both are working for the good of the young Catholic men and all their aims trend in the same direction. It will devolve on Mr. Shelley to further negotiations looking to the coalition of the two organizations. He is a natural diplomat, but can be firm when necessary. In the negotiations are successful the Y. M. I. can depend on Mr. Shelley to protect its interests.

CONSISTORY

Is Promised By November Says Roman Rumors.

A cablegram from Rome to the New York Herald says Pope Pius X. has decided at last to hold a consistory in November for the creation of Cardinals. This a consistory will be held after two years, the longest interval in modern times between two consistories. No information is yet forthcoming as to the Cardinals to be created beyond the fact that they will be unusually numerous.

Since the last consistory nine have died, and the Sacred College, instead of comprising the full number of seventy, now is reduced in membership to fifty-three. One new appointment certain is present is that of Monsignor Bisetti, the Pope's majordomo, who has occupied this position more than five years.

The Holy Father this week began his seventh year in the Pontificate. Taking a comparative rest from the daily routine of receptions, Cardinal del Val left the Vatican for the Villa of Colonel Blumensill, one of the survivors of the Papal Zouaves. The villa is only twenty minutes' drive from St. Peter's, but it is a few hundred feet higher than the city and commands a view of the sea. The Cardinal will remain there until the end of September, returning to the Vatican once a week for the transaction of business.

ASKS A CHANGE.

The Catholics of Leland, Cal., are rejoicing over the approaching advent of a resident priest, and a well authenticated rumor has it that the Rev. Father William J. Howlett is to be the clergyman. For some time past Father Howlett has been pastor of St. Ignatius' church at Pueblo, but on account of the increasing demand for his literary works he has asked the Right Rev. Bishop Matz to transfer him to a parish where his sacerdotal duties will be less onerous. Father Howlett was at one time a resident of Kentucky and is a close personal friend of many priests in the diocese of Louisville.

Miss Ethel Barrymore, the talented actress, who recently became Mrs. Russell Colt, was thirty years old last Sunday. She is a native of Philadelphia and a member of a family of Catholic actors. Her education was received in a Catholic convent.

FULTON.

Inventor of Steamboat Born in Empire State of Irish Parents.

Offered His Invention and Set to Fight For Ireland's Freedom.

New York Irishmen Preparing to Assist in a Mammoth Celebration.

BIG BENEFACTOR TO COMMERCE

The Irish people residing in New York City will have a large part in the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York City from September 25 to October 2. Some time ago the New York Sun declared a fact not generally known, and that was that Robert Fulton, the inventor of the steamboat, was born of Irish parents at Little Falls, New York, in 1765. Besides being an inventor he was an artist and patriot. Writing to Lord Greenville, he said: "Were you to grant me an annuity of $100,000 I would sacrifice all to the safety and independence of my country."

The British Government had sought to bribe him to suppress his inventions so that the United States could not utilize them. The Irish-Americans will one day erect a monument to his memory in the national capital.

Fulton's closest friends were Thomas Addis Emmet and Dr. Macneven, both Irish exiles. Emmet was his legal adviser, and the latter assisted him with his scientific knowledge. Fulton placed his inventions at the service of the Irish patriots and volunteered his personal services for another fight for Irish independence, and that is why New York Irishmen are uniting now to honor his memory.

At the invitation of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick all the Irish societies of New York have united in the movement, and under the Chairmanship of William Temple Emmet the work of preparation has been pushed forward with remarkable energy.

The first event of importance during the celebration will take place in Carnegie Hall on Sunday evening, September 26, when masterpieces of Irish music and song will be rendered both in English and Gaelic, and old Irish dances will be performed before a cosmopolitan audience. On Tuesday, September 28, there will be a mammoth parade, and the Irish-Americans are objecting because they will not be allowed to present more than 10,000 men. The Irish Volunteers will have the right of the line, and the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and other organizations will march in the order of the dates of their respective original organization. Many floats will display the part the Irish people played in the upbuilding of the Empire State.

Fulton's invention of the steamboat was a great benefit to American commerce, and he won the encomiums of the skeptics who had previously derided him and his strange looking craft, the Clermont, which made its initial trip from New York to Albany in August, 1810. The Clermont was 150 feet long and eighteen feet wide. The engine was of English manufacture. Pine logs were used as fuel.

Henry Hudson, who is to be jointly honored with Fulton, was an English sailor who was in the pay of the Government of Holland when he explored the Hudson river in his sailboat, the Dutch Moon. But the Irish of New York will not let the English nor the Dutch beat them in assisting in the dual celebration.

DON XAVERIAN HABIT.

Out of twelve young men who are preparing to become members of the Xaverian Brotherhood, and who received the habit of the order at St. Joseph's College, Baltimore, last Sunday, seven were from Louisville. The Rev. Father Christopher, C. P., offered up the holy sacrifice of the mass and invested the novices with the black habit. The Louisville boys thus honored were Ben Driscoll, who will be known in religion as Brother Ambrose; Edwin Cooke, as Brother Edwin; Ambrose Clarke, as Brother Silverius; Philip Thompson, as Brother Philibert; Simon Worland, Brother Bertram; Bertram Ritter, as Brother Dominic; and Andrew Ferry, as Brother Stephen. They will spend another year in the novitiate before they begin teaching.

ABLE AND EARNEST

Is New Head of Great and Growing Body.

The new national head of the Knights of Columbus, James A. Flaherty, of Philadelphia, is a newspaper man. Moreover he is the editor of La Verita, and American-Italian Catholic paper in the Quaker City. It is a little weekly published in the interest of Italians in America. For several years he has been Deputy Supreme Knight, and at the recent national convention was raised to the post of Supreme Knight.

On his return from Mobile last week he was met by his fellow Knights of Philadelphia and tendered a most cordial welcome home. Mr. Flaherty is in his fifty-fifth year and has been a member of the order since he became a member of the Catholic faith in 1895. For seven years he was President of the Catholic Young Men's Archdiocesan Union of Philadelphia. Later he has served successfully as Grand Knight, State Deputy and Master of the Fourth degree in his State. After that he became a member of the National Board of Directors, Deputy Supreme Knight and now Supreme Knight.

For several years past Mr. Flaherty has been a member and leading counsel for the American Society for Visiting Catholic Prisoners. He also belongs to many municipal organizations in Philadelphia. He has two sisters who are nuns.

STRICKEN FAMILY

Mourns the Loss of Aged Irish Catholic Lady.

It is with feeling of deepest regret that we chronicle the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Kirley, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed Irish-American ladies in the city. She passed away at the family residence, 1627 West Chestnut street, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Kirley had been suffering from a complication of ailments for several months, but bore her ills with the uncomplaining fortitude of an Irish Catholic mother. Her husband, Patrick Kirley, the well known blacksmith and wagon manufacturer, two sons, William and John Kirley, a member of the No. 4. Engle Company, and five daughters survive. The daughters are Mesdames Tony Norton, Robert Higgins, John Holland and Misses May and Elizabeth Kirley.

The deceased was a pioneer member of Sacred Heart parish, and from that church her funeral took place on Tuesday morning. The large attendance was proof of the high esteem in which Mrs. Kirley was held. Born in Ireland seventy years ago, she had spent half a century in Louisville. Kind, charitable, a dutiful wife and an affectionate mother, Mrs. Kirley was one of those Christian women who make the world better for having lived in it.

GIFT TO NATION.

On August 24 the patrons of the Cliff Haven Catholic Summer School will present to the nation a heroic statue of Commodore Macdonough. It is now being erected in Macdonough National Park, on the shore of Lake Champlain. The presentation speech will be made by Rodney Macdonough, the great grandson of the Commodore. Major Gen. Leonard Wood will accept the monument on behalf of the Government.

SUPERB RESULT.

Final figures on the Catholic charity bazaar held in Boston last November have just been made public. The superb total of $86,307.76 was left after paying all expenses. The money has been divided among a score of ecclesial charities, $50,000 going to the Working Boys' Home

CAMPAIGN

Is On in Earnest and All Is Working Favorably for Democrats.

Big Jeffersonian Barbecue Will Do Much to Encourage Workers.

Republicans Depend On Negro Vote to Carry Them Through.

WHAT ARE THE POLICE DOING?

Hot weather has had no terror for the army of ardent Democrats who are striving to elect Hon. W. O. Head Mayor of Louisville and to back him up with an able judiciary and clean cut Democrats for every office to be filled at the November election. Thus far the work has been done quietly. Every night has had its precinct and ward meetings, and the organization is rapidly working into a perfect whole. It is the most complete political organization ever effected in Louisville, and its thoroughness will be shown both in the registration and at the polls.

Mr. Head is increasing the number of his followers wherever he makes his appearance, and at a joint meeting of the Eighth and Ninth ward Democratic clubs Thursday night he made an address that evoked great enthusiasm.

The first big guns of the campaign will be fired on August 31 and September 1 on the occasion of the big Jeffersonian barbecue at the State Fair grounds. The ablest orators in Kentucky will be in attendance and it is estimated that 100,000 Democrats will attend and by word and example encourage the local workers to redeem our fair city from Republicanism.

While preparing for the barbecue the Democratic City and County Committee is not unmindful of the fact that negroes are pouring into the city. One locomotive engineer hauled three passenger coaches filled with negroes into Louisville last week. The train was stopped outside the city limits and the negroes were marched to a camp in the western suburbs and from there scattered over the city by twos and threes. They expect to vote in November, but the Democratic workers will see that only those entitled to the franchise cast their votes in November.

In an effort to keep the people from remembering Foster and his brutal assaults on respectable citizens and to keep them from talking of other Republican rascality, the Louisville Evening Post is making an awful fuss about Orville Stivers and the "Jeopard." Surely that does not display any more ignorance than the Post writer who told about Robert Emmet coming to New York and opening a law office.

After the barbecue things will warm up in earnest and Democrats from every walk in life will take the stump in the interest of W. O. Head and the rest of the ticket. The people want good government and an improved police force. Recently both the Post and the Herald had editorial notices boosting the splendid work of the Louisville police force. As a matter of fact the police force is by no means as efficient as it was two years ago when it had considerably less men. Within the past six months there have been seventy-five robberies on West Broadway, and less than 20 per cent. of them ever found their way into print, and the authorities have been so mortified and chagrined that less than half of these robberies were reported in the police bulletin.

Why all these robberies? Is it because the police are too busy taking a poll of the voters on the respective beats? Another menace to our fair city is the influx of negroes mentioned before. So rapidly are they coming in that there is not room enough for them in the negro sections, and now they are invading white neighborhoods. This means a further increase in crime, and wherever they land. Yet the Republican machine knows it can not elect Mayor Grinstead with white votes alone. They expect to hold the negro vote as a balance of power. The main fight for Democrats is to prevent the negroes from illegally registering and voting.

CELEBRATED SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Chester celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding at their home, 138 1/2 Ford street, Thursday and from early morning until late at night the residence was filled with friends who called to wish them many happy returns of the day. Many handsome presents were received and all the guests were royally entertained. Dr. Vincent Faint, of East Rock, who is here to visit his parents, remained to arrange the musical programme for the silver wedding. Vocal and instrumental music was rendered without stint during the afternoon and evening, and not a guest departed without expressing the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Chester would live to celebrate their golden wedding in the same happy manner.

CLEARED NICE SUM.

Returns of the recent Irish picnic at Milwaukee are not complete, yet it is estimated that $2,000 has been cleared for the Hibernians. Congressman James E. Graham, of Illinois, was the principal orator of the day. Athletic games were features of the day.

TE DEUM.

Custom has made it a rule for the people of the United States to devote one day, the last Thursday in November, to thanksgiving. Thinksgiving day it is called, and the early fathers of this republic were to a certain extent a religious people. True enough they burned witches, ducked scolds and scandal mongers and enacted blue laws, but they had the spirit of religion. Thanksgiving day is still with us—the day is, but little of the spirit of the early days of the republic is left. Shops and factories are closed, the festive turkey is roasted and the festive pumpkin pie is baked—and that is all.

It remains for the Catholics of America to bring back the true religious spirit of the thanksgiving, to offer their hearts, their prayers, their worldly goods, their lives, if necessary, in thanksgiving to our Father in heaven.

For almost two years the country has been beset by a panic that was a scourge. It disrupted homes, separated husband and wife, parents and children, stopped the wheels of progress and turned a land of joy into a vale of woe. Let us not wait for grim and bleak November to give our thanks. The dawn of prosperity has already broken. Let us be up and return thanks now, in the full tide of harvest, for the blessings we are about to receive. Catholics say grace before meals as well as after. And why should not all Americans join with their Catholic brethren in returning thanks?

No epidemic of disease exists in these United States. We are at peace with all nations. Throughout our vast domain our people excel in the midst of harvests that excel all records in the history of man. While the fertile fields of the Middle West are furnishing bumper crops of corn, wheat, rye and oats, the sunny South is yielding her treasures of snowy fiber to clothe the rich and poor. The Western plains are filled with sleek cattle, and every mountain and hillside is covered with sheep that will yield wool enough to clothe every man, woman and child in the United States. The fruit and melon crop, the truck farms and every crop that grows will be enormous this year.

Many more freight cars are needed. This means more iron, more locomotives, greater electric power, an increased demand for coal. It also means that there is no room in the United States for idlers. Neither is there any disposition on the part of our people to shrink. Americans as a rule are alert, active, energetic. Laziness is the exception rather than the rule, and for that we have an additional reason to give thanks. Our republic is only in its adolescent state, and yet it is the marvel of the ages. If it continues as it has begun, if its people continue to work for God and country, the United States will lead the world for centuries to come.

UNJUST INSINUATION.

On Friday of last week the Louisville Evening Times said: "The St. Joseph Infirmary property on Fourth avenue, between Chestnut street and Broadway, is not for sale. It cost a Louisville real estate dealer a tidy sum of money to ascertain the fact, but he finally received a positive reply from the Mother Superior of the order that owns and controls the property."

What manner of insinuation is this? How did it cost a real estate dealer anything to find out that the property was not for sale? A month ago the Times said it was rumored that the property was about to be sold, and that the infirmary would be removed to a more suitable location. That same afternoon the Kentucky Irish American asked the Mother Superior how much truth there was in the rumor. Her reply came emphatically and unhesitatingly to the effect that the Sisters of Charity were very well satisfied where they were and that the property was not for sale. The statement of the Mother Superior was published in the Kentucky Irish American, and there is no occasion for any real estate dealer or any newspaper to insinuate a case of broken faith.

MAYBE MAYOR'S JOKE.

Frankfort papers are authority for the statement that Mayor Hume, acting under a request from Adjutant General P. P. Johnston, has issued sweeping orders to the Frankfort police to arrest all idle men in the city and that he will see to it that they are put to work extending water main and electric light wires to the proposed camp for the First Regiment of Kentucky. If it is as bad as that why not arrest the loafers in the Capital city all the time? The people consider the present First Regiment a huge joke anyhow.

Time was when Louisville was proud of her soldier boys and bulled for them a mammoth, handsome and costly armory, but things have sadly changed. A little brief authority has made a military martinet out of what history and tradition declares was once a valiant warrior of the gray, and incidentally has resulted in the rapid disintegration of the once famous First Regiment. There is little likelihood that the Louisville soldier boys will need much ground at the forthcoming encampment.

SHERIFF USING NEGROES.

A few days ago the Associated Press dispatches in dealing with the strike of the employees of the Pressed Steel Car Company, at McKees Rocks, Pennsylvania, said: "Sheriff Gumbert today resumed the eviction of the strikers' families. He is being aided by twenty-five negroes hired by the rental agency for the company."

In other words the captains of industry behind the car company propose to win the strike through an appeal to race hatred. They want to set the negro against the foreign and native white strikers. It is time that the people of Pennsylvania were calling a halt on the oppression practiced by the car company. Certainly there are enough properly disposed people in the great State of Pennsylvania to put a stop to this atrocious work.

BROADMINDED GERMANS.

Emperor William and the Government of Germany were represented at the recent Eucharistic Congress held at Cologne. On the day of the great procession of the Blessed Sacrament through the streets of the marvellous city the military lined the route of the procession and presented arms as the cortege passed through. This is in direct and pleasing contrast to the conduct of the King of England and his Puritanical Government in London last year.

WORD TO THE WISE.

Now is the time to select a Catholic educational institution for your boys and girls. Do not neglect the matter. There is no time like the present, and rest assured you will not regret it if you select an academy, school or college that advertises in the columns of the Kentucky Irish American. These institutions offer superior advantages and are not afraid to let the public know about them.

Women in the garb of nuns are collecting money under false pretenses in several Western cities. It is not improbable that they will visit Kentucky. Be certain that you are giving your charity to persons properly accredited.

SISTER ALEXIA TRANSFERRED.

Pupils of Holy Rosary Academy will learn with regret the transfer of Sister Alexia, who after four years in Louisville has been selected to be Mother Superior of St. Michael's Convent at Lowell, Mass. Sister Alexia is one of the largest Eastern missions of the Dominican nuns. Sister Alexia is no stranger there, since she spent twelve years there as a young nun. While she regrets to leave her old Kentucky home, Sister Alexia is ever ready to obey the call of religious duty. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O'Sullivan, of Seventh and St. Catherine streets. Mr. O'Sullivan has another daughter, Sister Dolores, now in Western Illinois, who is also a member of the Dominican order. Sister Frances, Mother Superior of St. Francis de Sales Convent at Charleston, Mass., and who had been recuperating her health at St. Catherine's Academy, accompanied Sister Alexia on her journey to New England.

BROTHER CASIMIR'S RETURN.

The Rev. Brother Casimir, of the Xavierian Brotherhood, has returned to the East after a brief visit to his mother, Mrs. Mary Worland, 1024 Ruter avenue, and to his brothers and sisters. It was his second visit home in fifteen years. For several years past he has been engaged in teaching in the Xavierian College in East Boston, Mass. He went to Baltimore last week to be present when his younger brother, Simon Worland, was invested with the habit of the order at St. Joseph's College.

TOURING IRELAND.

Judge and Mrs. Matt O'Doherty are evidently seeing all that is interesting in Ireland. According to the Derry Standard the Louisville jurist and his estimable wife recently visited that far northern corner of the Emerald Isle. They will return home until early in October.

SOCIETY.

Miss Lillie Kearns, of Clifton, is visiting friends at New Haven.

Miss Minnie Kearns has returned from a six weeks' visit to Chicago.

Miss Ella Mannix is home after a two weeks' vacation spent at White Mills.

Mrs. J. K. Leahy, of Crescent Hill, is spending a month in various Michigan lake resorts.

Misses Alice Belle Cullen and Nellie A. Brown are visiting friends at Englewood, Ill.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

Attention is called to the advertisement in another column of St. Mary's College, one of the oldest educational institutions west of the Allegheny Mountains. St. Mary's is located in Maryland county, about six miles from Louisville. It is conducted by the Resurrectionist Fathers and has many distinguished men numbered among its former pupils. Perhaps the latest of its alumni to be honored is the Right Rev. Peter J. Malloy, Bishop of the new diocese of Rockford, Ill. St. Mary's has a commercial course, a high school course, with preparatory instructions for the study of law, pharmacy, medicine, dentistry and engineering, a college course and an excellent gymnasium with capable instructors. Parents who wish their boys to receive a first class Christian training should communicate with the President, Rev. Father Michael Jaglowicz, C. R.

THE LATEST BANNON.

Patrick Bannon is working overtime this week in sketching plans for a new book which he intends to entitle "What Shall We Do With Our Boys?" Last week he had two and a half hours of them, but a new section of the house of Bannon arrived at his residence, 2219 Rowan street, this week. The advent of the latest baby has upset his former ideas. With a father like young Pat and a grandfather like the late lamented Pat Bannon Sr., there is no doubt that the latest arrival will become an Archbishop at least. The baby will be christened at St. Cecilia's church tomorrow. The father intended to call it Mary, but his ideas have been entirely upset.

Volz, formerly Prior of St. Louis Bertrand Convent in Louisville, is one of the editors. Father Volz was one of the Dominicans who represented his order at the consecration of Bishop Gironi.

MARTYRS

Honored by Thousands Who Assembled at Grosse Isle.

Papal Delegate Presided at Unveiling of the Shaft.

Addresses in Gaelic, French and English Followed the Ceremonies.

HEROES OF SIXTY YEARS AGO

The monument erected by the Ancient Order of Hibernians to the memory of the Irish immigrants who perished of fever and famine in 1846-47 was unveiled at Grosse Isle, twenty-seven miles below Quebec and in the St. Lawrence river, last Sunday. Canadian Irishmen and Irish-Americans, dignitaries of the church from both countries, national officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, French Catholics and American Catholics stood with each other in assisting at the ceremonies. Above and over all was the protecting hand of our Holy Father Pius X., whose Canadian Delegate was the central figure at the exercises.

From time immemorial the nations in every age have erected monuments to their heroes who fell in war, but it remained for the Ancient Order of Hibernians to honor their countrymen and women who fell victims to famine and fever, but who were none the less heroic in their sacrifices. More than 40,000 of them died on foreign shores because they would not abjure the faith. They were martyrs as were the martyrs of the Roman arena. Their sainted bones have made holy the Eastern shores of Canada; their monument has been indelibly inscribed in the hearts of the Irish people scattered all over the globe. It was no idle honor that brought Monsignor Shuretti, the Papal Delegate, from Ottawa to unveil that Celtic cross erected to the memory of those Irish martyrs. Nor was it an idle boast for Archbishop O'Connell, of Boston, and Hon. Matthew Cummins, National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, thousands were there to assist at the unveiling ceremonies and the Irish were not alone—both French-Canadians and Americans were there in numbers to applaud the spirit of the Hibernians.

The monument, a Celtic cross, has been erected on Telegraph Hill, Grosse Isle. It overlooks the graves of the Irish dead near its western shore, and is constructed of gray granite. It rises to a height of forty-six and a half feet, so that its total elevation above the river is 140 feet. Panels on which the inscriptions are carved are of dark ebony. There are four of these panels, one on each side of the pedestal. On three of them is the following inscription in Gaelic, English and French respectively: "Sacrificed to the memory of thousands of Irish emigrants who to preserve their faith suffered hunger and exile in 1846-47 and stricken with fever, ended here their sorrowful pilgrimage." The fourth panel or memorial tablet will contain the names of forty-two Catholic priests who ministered to the sick and dying during those terrible times of epidemic.

Visitors from Washington, Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, Montreal and other places assembled at Quebec Saturday and Sunday. The Canadian Government steamer brought the delegates and the Papal Delegate, Monsignor Shuretti, the Papal Delegate, from Ottawa to unveil that Celtic cross erected to the memory of those Irish martyrs. Nor was it an idle boast for Archbishop O'Connell, of Boston, and Hon. Matthew Cummins, National President of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, thousands were there to assist at the unveiling ceremonies and the Irish were not alone—both French-Canadians and Americans were there in numbers to applaud the spirit of the Hibernians.

While this was in progress under a blazing sun the vast congregation of visitors knelt in rapt devotion. At the conclusion of the mass the Rev. Father A. E. McGuire, Chaplain of the Hibernians, preached a sermon in English; Father O'Hark, of New Brunswick, preached a sermon in Gaelic, and Archbishop Begin, in both French and English. Monsignor Shuretti imparted the apostolic blessing to the vast congregation before the unveiling ceremonies proper.

As many as possible of the vast concourse ascended to the top of the hill, where Monsignor Shuretti pulled aside the curtain that veiled the granite shaft. Canadian flags, Irish and American flags were displayed on every side. Addresses were made by Archbishop Begin, Matthew Cummins, Charles J. Foy, of Ottawa, and Major McCrystal, of New York.

Hon. Charles Murphy, the Canadian Secretary of State and a staunch Catholic, made a plea for the erection of a tablet to the Canadian clergy who had died from contracting the fever while ministering to the suffering immigrants of 1847. He offered to start the subscription with $100 and asked that the work be entrusted to the A. O. H., whose directors he thanked for giving his Government the privilege of assisting at the unveiling of the monument. Major McCrystal, of New York, and Mr. Turcotte, M. P., delivered their addresses in Gaelic. The new monument is visible up or down the St. Lawrence river for ten miles.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Eight States have created nine Hibernian scholarships.

Philadelphia has 104 divisions, the largest number of any city in the world.

The Ladies' Auxiliary has issued over 100 charters since the national convention last year.

Dayton, Ohio: Hibernians have a movement on foot to renew interest in old Irish athletic games.

Pennsylvania Hibernians request that the next national convention be held at some place more central than Portland, Ore.

The Ladies' Auxiliaries of Waterbury, Mass., are endeavoring to have Irish history taught at the public schools of that town.

The Philadelphia County Board appropriated $400 to pay the car fare of orphan children to a home which had been provided for them.

Miss Mollie Brown, a prominent member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, is at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital suffering from typhoid fever.

Division 6 of Little, N. Y., will have its annual picnic and field day on Labor day, September 6. A novel programme of sports is being arranged.

Mrs. Richards, of New Albany, an active worker in the Ladies' Auxiliary, and who had been ill for six weeks, was reported fully recovered at the last meeting.

Actual building operations have begun on the Hibernian building at McKeesport. A favorite trip for members in the evening is to go there and see what's doing.

The united divisions of the order in Buffalo are preparing for a big outing and field day on Labor day, September 6. The prizes will be the finest awarded under the rules.

Since the membership contests of last fall the attendance at the meetings of Division 2 of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Minneapolis, have been well attended and increasing in interest.

During home coming week at Milwaukee the local division of the order was much in evidence. One of the most attractive floats in the parade was one representing "Ireland a Nation."

The Ladies' Auxiliary held a well attended meeting Wednesday night, and all the members were enthusiastic over the prospects for the success of the coming picnic at Phoenix Hill Park.

Miss Kathleen Gibbons, daughter of Chief of Police John Gibbons, was an easy winner in the McKeesport Daily News popularity contest. His family includes six active members of the A. O. H. and auxiliary.

Ohio Hibernians and Ladies' Auxiliaries will hold their State convention at Dayton in 1930, and to help raise funds for that purpose Dayton and Springfield Hibernians are planning an outing and field day on Saturday, August 28.

Father William McMahon, for a number of years editor of the Cleveland Universe, who recently celebrated the thirty-seventh anniversary of his ordination, is an old and valued member of Division 7 of Cleveland, and has always shown a deep interest in the welfare of the order.

FORSAKE THE WORLD.
In connection with the celebration of the feast of the Assumption last Sunday at St. Mary's of the Woods, Convent, near Terre Haute, Ind., eleven young ladies made their first vows. The Right Rev. For two weeks he has been the guest of Cardinal Logue at Armagh, where the two eminent Irish ecclesiastics have been camping out, enjoying nature in the rough as did the Irish Bishops and scholars centuries ago. Archbishop Farley is a native of the County Armagh, but came to America with his parents when quite a boy.

HOODOO CAR.
Miss Nellie Flanagan, who was seriously injured in a street car accident several weeks ago, is able to be up, but has not entirely recovered. The news that car 672, of the Sixth street and Barret avenue line, had jumped the track in the same place twice on successive days seemed to cheer her up considerably. Miss Flanagan is in hopes that 672 will be retired on a pension. It was not this time that Miss Flanagan was injured recently.

MEETS OLD FRIENDS.
Rev. Brother Celestine, C. S. C., formerly James Cassin, is visiting relatives in Louisville this week. ENGLISHMAN NOTES CONTRAST.
In a recent lecture in Edinburg, William Stead, the distinguished editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, gave a generous tribute to the power of the church in conserving virtue. He declared that there was no blinking the fact that "if they took a Protestant family and a Catholic family and placed them in a London slum, four years afterward half of the Protestant family would have gone to the bad, while every member of the Catholic family would have retained his or her virtue." Continuing his eulogy of the virtuous power of the church, he said: "I was astonished to see people in Ireland living in poor cabins who, whatever else they might be, were most virtuous."

AUSPICIOUS OUTING.
The annual outing of the Catholic Knights of America conducted by the Central Committee at Fontaine Ferry Park Wednesday afternoon and evening brought out a crowd of over 5,000. The Knights and their families were very much in evidence and all enjoyed a pleasant outing. Col. Tony Landenwick, manager of the park, was indefatigable in his efforts to please the Knights and their guests, and when the evening closed the committee came away with a check for a tidy sum.

DECIDES CHAMPIONSHIP.
The Portlaurd Stars will begin a series of three games tomorrow with the Butchertown team for the local championship of the season. The merits of these two teams has been a much mooted question since the opening of the season, their respective admirers being firm in the opinion that their team was in a class by itself. Doherty and Yantz will be the battery for the Portlaurd's, while Harper and Evans will act for Butchertown. A record breaking crowd is expected.

DOUBLE GRIEF

Distresses Family of a Well Known Old Citizen.

Grief over the death of his son and namesake coupled with the infirmities of old age brought about the death of Thomas Keyer, Sr., at his home, 1341 Second street, Thursday night of last week. Thomas Keyer, Jr., a cotton broker of Memphis, died at Carlsbad, Germany, two weeks previous. His widow returned to New York with the remains on Thursday and in the evening of that day the father died. The funeral of the aged man took place from the Cathedral of the Assumption Sunday afternoon, and of the son at Memphis, Tenn., on Monday.

Thomas Keyer, Sr., is survived by four sons and two daughters. The sons are John B., William F. and Joseph Keyer, of Louisville, and Robert Keyer, of Vicksburg, Miss., and the daughters are Misses Mary and Elizabeth Keyer. Mr. Keyer was born in Ireland seventy-nine years ago, but came to America with his parents when a child. For more than forty years he had been employed as a boiler-maker in the L. and N. railroad shops and was an expert in his line. Beloved by his fellow-workmen, he was idolized by his children. To his sons he was a companion as well as a father. He was the type of man that sets an example worthy of emulation, and his death is mourned by a wide circle of friends and relatives.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Prepares to Celebrate its Sixteen Years of Success.

President Louis J. Kieffer wielded the gavel over a well-attended meeting of Mackin Council Tuesday night. James G. Schrems, who has been on the sick list, was reported improving. The delegates to the Grand Council reported the proceedings of that body.

The matter of erecting a large and modern gymnasium and bath house in the rear of the club house was informally discussed, but definite action was deferred until the following committee has an opportunity to investigate and report the probable cost of the improvements: Robert T. Burke, William Kerberg, Charles S. Ralby, James T. Shelley and Samuel Robertson. Mackin will celebrate its sixteenth anniversary on the evening of September 16, and President Kieffer asked that as many members as possible be present on that occasion, so that the project for building the new gymnasium and refurbishing the club house might be fully digested. The Membership Committee was instructed to meet Friday night and arrange for the anniversary celebration and also to outline plans for a fall campaign.

YOUTHFUL ORGANIST HONORED.

The choir of St. Bridget's church honored Miss Marie Adelberg, their youthful organist, with a little surprise on Friday evening. Miss Adelberg was to celebrate her seventeenth birthday on Sunday, and so the choir celebration would not conflict with the solemnity of the feast of the Assumption. It was held on Friday evening. When Miss Adelberg came for choir practice she found the pastor, Rev. Francis Jansen, the choir members and visiting singers from other choirs assembled. She was congratulated on her approaching birthday and the evening was spent with vocal and instrumental music and social chat. Visiting singers were Miss Ella May Rankin, alto; Mrs. John J. Score, soprano, and Theodore Werter, tenor. Refreshments were served during the happy hours.

BIG NIGHT THAT NIGHT.

President John H. Hennessy is preparing to sing "It Looks to Me Like a Big Night Tonight" when he wields the gavel at the opening of Division 4's meeting Monday night. Only the most necessary routine business will be transacted before the meeting is turned over to the Literary Committee for the social session. State President George J. Butler, County President Welsh and other officials will be present to encourage the amateur talents of Division 4. Only members of the order will be admitted to the festivities. Refreshments and cigars will be furnished by the Literary Committee.

MATHON'S DEATH REGRETTED.

Mrs. Helen Connell Foley, one of the most popular young matrons of Paris, died at Danville on Monday, and the news of her death was deeply regretted in both cities. The remains were taken to Paris and interred there Tuesday morning at the Church of the Annunciation on Wednesday. Rev. Father Gorey, of Covington, celebrated the requiem mass and was assisted by the Rev. Father Hanstman. The funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen on the streets of Paris.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

Tomorrow at the late mass at St. Frances of Rome church in Clifton the beautiful devotion of the Forty Hours' Prayer will begin. The church will be appropriately decorated for the occasion and the Rev. Thomas W. White will be assisted by several of the local clergy. The exercises will conclude on Tuesday morning.

Wonderful to Take at Change of Life. 2

Plaza, Ark., March 2nd, 1908.
Have taken Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic during 18 years as needed and always got the desired results. It has helped me in all my troubles and recommended it to friends and strangers. Although it is not recommended for I have found it good during pregnancy. It will do away with all those distressing symptoms such as nervousness, palpitations, hysterics, trembling and sleeplessness (try it sisters!) it is wonderful and will not injure you or child. I feel better and more energetic now. I have been a sufferer from this ailment for 18 years and I find this Tonic wonderful to take at change of life (do try it sisters for this ailment, it will not disappoint you).
Annelia G. Mellins writes from Chacon, New Mex., Feb. 25, 1907: I suffered 7 years from palpitation of the heart, after having used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I feel entirely well.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases and a Sample Bottle to any address. Poor patients also get the medicine free. Prepared by the Rev. Father Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind. since 1884 and now by the KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill., 100 Lake Street.
Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle, 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75; 6 Bottles for $9.

and an abundance of refreshments will be aboard. Louis Constantine, Robert Gleason, Thomas O'Hern and Capt. John B. Murphy think that the young folks ought not have all the fun and to that end have arranged a series of old fashioned quizzles, and St. Patrick's Butler, County President Welsh and Division Presidents Keenan, Ford, Sullivan and Hennessy are in full sympathy and an excellent attendance from the Kentucky side of the river is promised.

He was seventy-four years old and was respected by all who knew him. The funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church Saturday morning and was attended by many old friends.

The funeral of Michael Boyle, who died at the family residence, 1810 Portland avenue, Saturday morning, took place from St. Patrick's church on Monday morning and was largely attended. CENTRAL COMMITTEE

Plans to Maintain Interest in Affairs of the C. K. of A.

The Central Committee of the C. K. of A. met at St. Mary's Hall Friday night of last week and made final arrangements for their annual outing, which was held on Wednesday at Fontaine Ferry Park. President John Schalda opened the meeting with prayer and many branches and both military companies were represented. Messrs. Charles J. Desse, Anthony Montedonico, Jr., Capt. Gus Kane, Joseph P. McGinn, Harry Veenean, Charles Falk, John Schalda, Matt Schlang and Joe Herp were named as a Reception Committee for the outing. Harry Veenean reported for the Organization Committee and told of plans for visiting every branch in the Falls Cities. William T. Neehan reported that the Ritual Committee was still at work and would soon confer the third degree on a large class. The Dramatic Committee reported progress and stated that there would be a meeting of the dramatic club the following Friday night. It promises a pleasing entertainment in the near future. INDIANAPOLIS TODAY.

Louisville Baseball Team Meets Hoosiers This Afternoon.

The Louisville baseball team after a very successful Western invasion returned home last night and will meet the Indianapolis team this afternoon in the first of a series of five games, to be followed by the Columbus team and then away for a two-weeks' trip, which will be the team's last away from home games. Messrs. Grayson and Chivington have been endeavoring for the past two weeks to secure a hard hitting infielder and outfielder and it is believed that they have succeeded and the names will be announced in day or two, which will surely be good news to the loyal fans.

For the sake of the good name of baseball here someone ought to squelch the youngster who is writing baseball for the Evening Times, as his continual attacks on Umpires Owens and Conahain, claiming that these two capable and honest officials are responsible for Louisville losing games, when every man, woman or child in this city who knows the difference between the game of baseball and football is aware that the team's weakness at the bat has cost them many a game and not the decisions of the umpires. The Times' young man might improve by studying the methods of the Post's competent sporting editor.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Every officer of Trinity Council was in his chair when President James B. Kelly rapped for order last Monday night. The members displayed quite an interest in the proceedings. Eugene Cooney and Vic K. Ecker reported the proceedings of the recent session of the Grand Council and both reports were heard with more than ordinary interest, since both had been honored by election as Grand officers. T. J. Garvey, Chairman of the committee arranging for the outdoor euchre and dance at Phoenix Hill Park on September 8, reported progress on behalf of his committee, and additional members were added to the committee arranging for the children's council and baby show to be held on Thanksgiving day.

LEXINGTON LADY DEAD.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Hara, one of the most respected ladies of Lexington, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. James McKenna, in that city, last Sunday morning. She had been ill for many months and her death was not unexpected. She was born in Ireland seventy-nine years ago, but had spent more than half a century in Louisville. Five children survive her. They are Mesdames James Naughton and John Costello, of Louisville; Mrs. James McKenna, of Louisville; Misses Kate and Elizabeth O'Hara and John O'Hara, of Lexington. The funeral took place from St. Paul's church on Tuesday morning.

ST. ANN'S LAWN FETE.

A lawn fete will be given on the grounds of St. Ann's school, Seventh and Lavender streets, next Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening. The ladies of the parish are making extraordinary preparations for the event. An excellent supper will be served for twenty-five cents, and many beautiful prizes will be awarded. Refreshments of all kinds will be provided in abundance. Rev. Father John T. Hill, the pastor, will be delighted to meet his many friends and extend a cordial invitation to one and all to be present on one or both days.

REVEREND VISITOR.

The Rev. Father Samuel B. Spalding, pastor of St. Agnes' church in West Chester, Pa., spent several days in Louisville this week en route home from Marion county. Father Spalding is a native of Kentucky and a member of the family that has given so many sons and daughters to the cause of our holy faith. At the University of Louvain, Belgium, Father Spalding was a colleague of the Rev. Father B. H. Westermann, now pastor of St. Mary's church in this city.

I. C.'S ENTERPRISE.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company, through Superintendent A. H. Egan, announced this week that it would immediately proceed to erect a new depot on the present site to cost $700,000. Three four-story structures on Main street, beginning at the corner of Seventh, have also been purchased and will be razed to give an entrance to the depot from Main street. The train shed will also be extended and the depot will be one of the finest passenger terminals in the South when completed.
